WORKERS COMPENSATION (“WC”) DISPUTES

Fischers Island Ferry District (“FIFD”) In CT retained Mr. Austin in 2014 to review a Zurich WC audit of FIFD payroll for masters (“captains”) and crew (“deckhands”). The audit was incorrect as it overcharged FIFD. Mr. Austin was successful in changes favorable to FIFD.

Longshore Sailing Club (“Longshore”) In CT, retained Mr. Austin in 2011 to argue in front of National Council of Compensation Insurance (“NCCI”) that Travelers, Longshore’s WC insurer, was incorrect in demanding certain WC maritime coverage endorsements. Mr. Austin was successful in maintaining status quo for Longshore.

Appalachian Mountain Club (“AMC”) In MA, retained Mr. Austin in 2008 to discuss with The Workers’ Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau of Massachusetts why AIG, AMC’s WC insurer, should not make changes to its payroll classifications. Mr. Austin was successful in maintaining status quo for AMC.

Mac-Gray Corporation (“Mac-Gray”), In MA, retained Mr. Austin in 2005 to discuss with The Workers’ Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau of Massachusetts why AIG, as Mac-Gray’s WC insurer, should not make changes to its payroll classifications. Mr. Austin was successful in maintaining status quo for Mac-Gray.

While academic CVs typically do not include this type of information, I believe many of my personal experiences assist me in helping to understand risk in both the assessment stage and in the handling stage. This awareness makes me a better risk manager than if I gained risk management and insurance knowledge solely through coursework and/or a workplace environment.*
